

Congratulations! You are now the proud owner of a one-of-a-kind retro gaming system. What started as a fun project evolved into an obsession to build the best experience I could to transport my brothers and me back to our childhood.

This project required development and testing to build a system that brings together all the elements of retro gaming to your fingertips: extensive libraries, manuals, per-game configurations, collections, system guides, videos, overlays / splash screens, cheats, and so much more that I could never possibly cover it all here.

Additionally, 15,000+ game manuals have been catalogued by hand, meticulously gathered from the highest quality sources and made available directly within the game for every system. Not only can you play the games you loved, but remember how to play them too!

This system has been built with love and passion for well over a year with countless late nights and long weekends. I hope this brings back memories you can share with your friends and family.

Please enjoy.
